

Terms and conditions

“Rediscover Romania” section

The Rediscover Romania section is the property of OMV Petrom S.A.. All the terms of the host website (www.petrom.com) apply to this section. In case of a conflict, these terms apply.

Accessing and navigating this website represents your agreement regarding the terms and conditions of use.

Under no circumstances can Petrom be held responsible regarding the copyrighted content added to this website by users, the responsibility belonging completely to the users. Petrom does not take responsibility regarding the origin or veracity of the materials or proposals published on this website and does not answer for the potential mistakes or misdirections of those that suggest places on the „Rediscover Romania” map. Petrom checks the proposed materials but certain mistakes may occur.

Any person that sends in any way information or materials toward the website takes the responsibility of not prejudicing in any way the copyrights that a third party could call upon regarding the materials and informations sent. The persons that send information or materials understand and accept that breaking this obligation in any way cannot hold Petrom responsible in any way.

Petrom has the freedom to accept or refuse any material received for publishing. The author of a material that has been posted on the website cannot have any pretences after it is published. Any author that sends materials towards publishing on the website has the obligation to check if these materials were or were not posted beforehand or to determine the source of the publishing. Petrom holds the right to use any material posted on the website by users in any way.

Petrom can use any material sent to this website in promotional campaigns or campaigns meant to increase awareness of this campaign without further costs or special approvals.